

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An ElectroLuminescent (EL) device includes a transparent electrode layer, a luminescent layer, and insulation layer, a rear electrode layer, a first protection layer adapted to cover the luminescent layer and the insulation layer and the rear electrode layer, and an electrode layer for noise reduction sequentially arranged on an insulated substrate; and a second protection layer adapted to cover the electrode layer for noise reduction.